History of Fort Hood

Fort Hood was named after John Bell Hood, a famous Confederate Army General who commanded the Texas Brigade during the American Civil War. In 1861, John Hood resigned his commission in the Union Army to join the Confederate Army where he was quickly promoted to Brigadier General. At Gettysburg he commanded under General Longstreet and was severely wounded. At the Battle of Chickamauga, General Hood lost his right leg. Not one to give up, he had himself strapped in his saddle and continued leading his troops. A fighting leader who always took the fight to the enemy, General Hood was placed in command of the Army of Tennessee and aggressively opposed Union General Tecumseh Sherman during the infamous “March to the Sea”.

The original site for Fort Hood, then called Camp Hood, was selected in 1941. In January 1942, the War Department announced the selection of Killeen; the site for the Tank Destroyer Tactical and Firing Center, where the primary mission was training the Army’s tank destroyer battalions. As this mission declined the post’s massive training resources shifted to field artillery battalions and the Infantry Replacement Training Center. The total camp population on the last day in 1944 was 50,228 Soldiers, a figure very close to today’s Soldier population. In 1950, during the Korean buildup, Camp Hood was designated as Fort Hood, a permanent installation. During the Korean War years, the post continued its training mission and provided individual replacements for many of the units involved in the conflict. In 1953, Congress approved additional 50,000 acres to Fort Hood.

In 1961, Fort Hood again became the Home of III Corps. In 1967, Fort Hood was officially designated a two-division post with the stationing of both the 1st and 2d Armored Divisions at Fort Hood. In October 1969, the Killeen Base was re-designated as West Fort Hood and the airfield’s name was changed to Robert Gray Army Airfield. During the late 1960’s Fort Hood trained and deployed 137 units and a large number of individual replacements for duty in Vietnam. As the United States ended its role in that conflict, thousands of returning Soldiers completed their active duty with one of the Fort Hood Divisions. In 1971 the 1st Cavalry Division came to Fort Hood from Vietnam and replaced the 1st Armored Division when “Old Ironsides” deployed to Germany.

Today Fort Hood comprises 340 square miles. The post stretches 26 miles from east to west and 24 miles from north to south. Fort Hood is approximately 60 miles north of the state capital and 50 miles south of Waco. The city of Killeen borders Fort Hood to the east and Copperas Cove to the west.

Once in the field, Soldiers find themselves in a semi-arid terrain that has 413 miles of paved roads and 449 miles of dirt roads. Live-fire exercises take place on fifty ranges and two scaled-down ranges located throughout the post’s maneuver area. Fort Hood is the “Great Place”.

III Corps History

III (Phantom) Corps was organized on March 30, 1918, at Langres, France. During World War I, the Corps participated in the Aisne-Marne, Oise-Aisne, Meuse-Argonne, Champagne, and Lorraine campaigns.

During World War II the Corps earned the nickname “Phantom Corps” by hitting the enemy when least expected. III Corps was awarded campaign streamers for Northern France, Rhineland, Ardennes-Alsace and Central Europe campaigns. Assigned to Patton’s Third Army during the relief of Bastogne, III Corps liberated more than 100 towns, including Bastogne halting the German bulge offensive. III Corps then established the Remagen Bridgehead securing the initial foothold in Germany.

Inactivated 10 October 1946 at Camp Polk, Louisiana, III Corps was reactivated 15 March 1951 at Camp Roberts, California. III Corps again inactivated 5 May 1959, and reactivated 1 September 1961 at Fort Hood, Texas, during the Berlin Crisis. Reorganized and re-designated 24 September 1965 as Headquarters, III Corps; Headquarters Company, III Corps, concurrently constituted and activated at Fort Hood, Texas.

During the Vietnam era, III Corps trained and deployed two Field Force Headquarters to provide combat assistance to the South Vietnamese and to control US military operations in the Central Highlands. III Corps supervised the training and deployment of more than 137 units and detachments to Southeast Asia.

Post Vietnam, III Corps would take part in a number of tests of organizations and tactical concepts, and was on the leading edge of the Army’s modernization effort with the introduction of new organizations and equipment. III Corps supported operations worldwide, to include Grenada, Panama, Honduras, Saudi Arabia, and Kuwait.
III Corps also supported Stabilization Force (SFOR) operations in Bosnia, humanitarian support for Operation Restore Hope in Somalia, and numerous humanitarian missions in the United States and Central America. III Corps units would also participate in major exercises such as REFORGER (Return of Forces to Germany) and disaster relief operations in the United States and Central America.

In the decade of the 1980’s, III Corps units have been on the leading edge of the Army’s modernization effort with the introduction of new organizations and equipment like the M1 Abrams Tank, M2/3 Bradley Fighting Vehicle, AH64 Apache Helicopter, Multiple Launch Rocket System (MLRS), and Mobile Subscriber Equipment (MSE). In 1987, III Corps also conducted the largest deployment of forces to Germany since World War II. This demonstrated the Corps’ ability to perform one of its primary wartime missions. III Corps also plays an important part in the training and support of active and reserve component units. This support involves training guidance, resources, and the maintenance of relationships that extend to wartime affiliations.

In response to the invasion of Kuwait in 1990, III Corps deployed the 1st Cavalry Division, elements of the 13th Corps Support Command and elements of the 6th Air Cavalry Brigade in support of Operations Desert Shield and Desert Storm, playing a critical role in the liberation of Kuwait.

Throughout the 90’s, III Corps would provide forces in support of humanitarian operations in Central America, Kurdish relief operations in Northern Iraq, peace keeping and security operations in Eastern Europe, stability operations on the Arabian Peninsula and disaster relief operations here at home.

With the terrorist attacks of 11 September 2001, III Corps was called upon to provide forces and equipment in support of Operation Enduring Freedom in Afghanistan and a Brigade Combat Team in support of increased security operations in Kuwait. In late 2002, early 2003, III Corps began preparing its organic, assigned and attached units for major combat operations.

During Operation Iraqi Freedom 2004 to 2005, III Corps replaced Combined Joint Task Force-7 and transformed into Multi-national Corps-Iraq. III Corps’ mission was to conduct offensive operations to defeat remaining non-compliant forces and neutralize destabilizing influences in Iraq in order to create a secure environment as part of the Iraqi Governance Campaign. During Operation Iraqi Freedom from 2006 to 2008, the Iraqi Surge Campaign, III Corps as Multi-national Corps-Iraq conducted operations to secure the Iraqi population and break the cycle of violence. During Operation Iraqi Freedom 2010, III Corps once again was part of a headquarters transformation becoming the nucleus of United States Forces-Iraq. During the Iraqi Sovereignty Campaign, III Corps assisted the Iraqi government and military during the national elections. The Phantom Warriors planned and executed operations at every level from tactical to strategic, setting the improved security conditions which allowed the U.S. forces to begin the drawdown and transition from combat operations to an advise and assist role. On 1 September 2010, III Corps marked the official end of combat operations in Iraq as Operation Iraqi Freedom and transitioned to Operation New Dawn. III Corps, as America’s Armored Corps, is our country’s premier heavy maneuver force: mobile, lethal, and Army Strong!

For many years, the primary focus of III Corps was the reinforcement of NATO. As the world and the U.S. Army have changed, III Corps has also changed and broadened its focus to be ready to deploy anywhere, anytime and win. In April 2013, III Corps cased their colors marking the final step before beginning a yearlong deployment to Afghanistan.

This marked the Corps' sixth deployment, but the first to Afghanistan. III Corps joined other NATO Nations to form the International Joint Command, the corps-level headquarters element that controls the ground war.

Policy Letters
(http://www.hood.army.mil/corps.policies.aspx)

Each Soldier is expected to read, comprehend, and acknowledge all applicable Policy Letters. Soldiers will apply Policy Letters as needed. The understanding and practice of each is an individual Soldier's responsibility.

Military Customs and Courtesy

Courteous is respect for and consideration of others.

Courtesy among members of the Armed Forces is vital to maintain military discipline. Respect to seniors will be extended at all times. All military personnel in uniform shall salute when they meet and recognize persons entitled to the salute.

The exchange of a salute is a visible sign of good discipline and mutual respect. Saluting is an outward sign of unit pride and esprit de corps. IAW AR 600-25 each salute shall be rendered with a greeting and response. The Fort Hood greeting is their “Unit Motto, Sir or Ma’am”. The response from the officer will be your “Unit Motto”. When approaching an NCO the appropriate greeting of the day will be rendered, “Good morning Sergeant” the response from the Sergeant will be their “Unit Motto”. NO SILENT PASSING!

Be alert for general officers and other senior officer vehicles, which are identified with plates depicting their rank attached to the front of the vehicle. Proper military courtesy requires that you render a salute to these officers as they pass.

The following rules apply in most situations you are likely to face.

- Unit headquarters, orderly rooms, supply rooms, dayrooms, and squad rooms. The first person to see an officer who is higher in rank than the officer present in the room should call “Attention.” The senior Soldier present in the area should then report to the visiting officer. In smaller rooms, containing one or two enlisted Soldiers, the Soldier(s) should rise and stand at the position of attention when an officer enters the room.

- Offices, shops, hangars, and medical treatment facilities. When an officer enters personnel who are working do not come to attention unless the officer speaks to them.

- Dining facilities. The first person to see an officer who is senior in rank to any present in the dining facility he/she will call “At Ease” so that their presence is known and necessary action can be taken. The Soldiers should fall silent, remain seated, and continue to work or eat. The senior dining facility MC or NCOIC should report to the officer.

- Hallways. The first person to see an officer who is senior in rank to the unit commander or officers on the floor will call “Attention”. When a senior noncommissioned officer enters a room/area, “At Ease” will be called, unless “Attention” has already been called.

- All Soldiers, officer or enlisted, will come to the position of attention facing a senior officer when spoken to. In an official capacity normally the senior officer will direct “At Ease” or “Carry On” or “As You Were” if the situation merits. When an enlisted Soldier is speaking to an NCO, the Soldier will stand at “Parade Rest”, unless otherwise directed by the senior NCO. A subordinate shall stand when spoken to by someone senior in rank unless the superior directs otherwise. When walking with a senior Soldier, the junior officer or enlisted Soldier will walk to the senior’s left side, in step with the senior officer and half a step behind.

- When an officer approaches Soldiers in a formation, the person in charge calls, “Attention” and renders a salute for the entire group. When an officer of senior rank approaches a group of individuals not in formation, the first person to see the officer calls “Group Attention” and everyone in the group faces the officer and renders a salute with the appropriate greeting. However, Soldiers working as part of the detail or participating in some other group activity, such as athletics do not salute. The person in charge, if not actively engaged, salutes for the entire detail or group of Soldiers.

- Leaders must take a common sense approach as it relates to observing this courtesy. Saluting should not be required when it conflicts with the task(s) that Soldier(s) are charged with performing.

- Salutes will be exchanged outside the PX, post theater, and other congested areas to include under overhangs. All Soldiers, officer and enlisted, will render the necessary salute, unless the act would be impractical i.e., arms full of packages, at which time you would render the appropriate verbal greeting.

- The US flag as distinguished from “The Colors” is not saluted except during the ceremonies of raising (Reveille) and lowering (Retreat) the flag and when it is passing in a parade. The US flag trimmed on three sides with golden yellow fringe is “The Colors” and is saluted as it passes or you pass it within six paces.

- Retired military personnel should be given the respect normally afforded by their active duty rank.

- Soldiers should acknowledge senior NCOs and officers when not in duty uniform, even if both are in civilian clothes. The general rule of thumb is, “No silent passing”. Always address the superior with greeting of the day.

- When three or more Soldiers are walking between places of duty, the senior NCO or Soldier will take charge and the group will march, in step, to their destination.

Reveille and Retreat Ceremonies

1. Reveille: When outside in uniform, not in formation and you hear “Reveille”, you should face towards the US flag, if visible. If the US flag is not visible, face towards the music, assume the position of attention, and salute on the first note of the music. During “Reveille” all vehicles in the area will stop, where military occupants will dismount their vehicle and render the proper courtesy. When required, the senior Soldier should bring the formation to attention and salute. If you are in civilian attire and hear “Reveille” you are expected to remove all headgear and place your right hand over your heart.

2. Retreat: When outside in uniform, not in formation and you hear “Retreat” you will face towards the US flag, if visible. If the US flag is not visible, face towards the music and assume the position of attention. You will then salute upon hearing the first note of “To the Colors”. While in a formation, the senior Soldier should bring the formation to parade rest during “Retreat” and then bring the formation to attention and present arms on the first note of the playing of “To the Colors”. During retreat all vehicles in the area will stop, where military occupants will dismount their vehicle and render the proper courtesy.

   a. If you are in civilian attire outdoors and hear "To the Colors" you are expected to stand at attention, remove all head gear and place your right hand over your heart. If you are in civilian attire outdoors and hear the National Anthem you are authorized to salute or place your hand over your heart.

   b. Soldiers will stand at attention and sing “The Army Song” as well as unit songs whenever they are played.

All personnel will maintain a high standard of dress and appearance. Uniforms will fit properly; trousers, pants, or skirts will not fit tightly. Personnel must keep uniforms clean and serviceable. Soldiers must project a military image that leaves no doubt that they live by a common military standard and are responsible to military order and discipline. Soldiers should always refer to AR 670-1.

Personal Conduct

General: We are all professionals and represent our service, our units, and all of those who came before us. We are expected to conduct ourselves professionally regardless of our duty status whether on or off post in or out of uniform. The observance of military customs and courtesies show we honor our country, and the service in which we serve, and the sacrifices of those Soldiers who came before us. We do this by taking time to stop and pay respects to the flag, saluting those Officers senior to us. We should stand at the proper position when talking to those senior to us and use the proper greeting when addressing those senior to us. We need Soldiers who know, and comply with standards, and we need leaders who know, comply with, enforce, and inspect their Soldiers. Leaders have a responsibility to return service members salutes and greetings. All service members are entitled to have a good time and enjoy their off duty time. When an individuals or a groups good time begins to interfere with others ability to have a good time; a line has been crossed. Examples of Soldiers crossing this line are loud music in motor vehicles; using loud and profane language in public places, as well as having functions at home that will disturb our neighbors. We are professionals. Our teammates, our units, and our Army are expecting us to conduct ourselves in a disciplined and professional manner.

Public Establishments

1. When visiting on-post and off-post public establishments, service members must be especially courteous and conduct themselves in a manner that does not bring discredit upon themselves, Fort Hood, or the Armed Forces.
2. Consumption of alcoholic beverages off the installation while in duty uniform is strictly prohibited. Service members in uniform may not purchase alcoholic beverages until after 1630 on normal duty days. Refer to: III Corps and FH Regulation 210-65.

3. Off-Duty Appearance: Service members shall know and comply with the dress codes of the establishments they visit. In general, the professional atmosphere and high standards of appearance maintained by uniformed military personnel in III Corps and Fort Hood should carry over into the selection of civilian attire. Wear of appropriate attire avoids public embarrassment and promotes a sense of community. It also assists in the orderly accomplishment of the installation's mission and fosters loyalty, discipline, and morale of Soldiers. The following are examples of articles of civilian clothing and appearance that are inappropriate for wear in on or off-post facilities:

   a. Clothing worn as an outer-garment which is obviously intended to be worn as an undergarment. This does not include T-shirts.

   b. Clothing with obscene, slanderous, or vulgar words or drawing to include clothing which makes Disparaging comments concerning the US Government.

   c. Articles of apparel which depict drugs or drug paraphernalia, or which advocate the use of drugs.

   d. Articles of apparel and grooming which could cause a sanitation problem or prove offensive because of a lack of cleanliness.

   e. Bare feet in any facility except one where footwear is not appropriate, such as swimming pools.

4. Respect those around you and speak at a volume to which is appropriate for the environment.

5. Profanity. The use of profanity and racial epithets are unacceptable anywhere. Profanity has become much more prevalent in normal public conversation. We are often not aware of the impression it conveys to our host community as well as the offensive atmosphere it creates for co-workers. Service Members should be aware of their surroundings and be tactful and courteous at all times.

Public Use of Alcohol

(Service member will not consume alcoholic beverages in the duty uniform while off post.)

1. Service members will not carry (on foot or in privately owned vehicles) open bottles or cans of alcoholic beverages except in areas designated for consumption of alcoholic beverages, such as picnic grounds. Alcohol will not be consumed on any road, alley, parking area, or outside any public building on Fort Hood. (FHR 210-65)

2. SERVICE MEMBERS DO NOT DRINK AND DRIVE! Service members will know and use the designated driver rule. In lieu of a designated driver, use public transportation such as taxis, contact your chain of command, or call the military police at 287-4001 for a ride home.

3. In the state of Texas, the legal limit for driving while intoxicated is a .08% blood alcohol content (BAC) for drivers age 21 and over. For drivers under the age of 21, and any detectable amount of blood alcohol, which typically equates to a .02% BAC, exceeds the legal limit for driving while intoxicated. Service members under the age of 21 shall not consume alcohol on or off post.
Radios, Stereos, MP3, CD Players

1. Loud playing of any audio device in public places, housing areas, billets, on and off post, may violate Texas statutes, local ordinances, and Fort Hood policies. Also, when your music is too loud, it’s a safety issue for Soldiers because they can’t hear anything else. It will be considered a violation of Texas Penal Code, Section 42.01 (a) (5) and this regulation when:
   a. Music, vibrations, or other sounds emanating from a vehicle with its windows closed can be heard from 10 or more feet from the vehicle.
   b. Music, vibrations or other sounds emanating from a vehicle with its windows open can be heard from 50 or more feet from the vehicle.

   b. Evict the individual.
   c. Ban the individual from post.

3. The wearing of any portable headphones, earphones, or other listening devices (except for hands free cellular phones) while operating a motor vehicle is prohibited. Vehicle operators on DOD installations and operators of Government-owned vehicles shall not use cellular phones unless the vehicle is safely parked or unless they are using a hands free device. This includes vehicles at the halt on an active roadway, i.e. at stop lights and signs. The only exceptions to this prohibition are emergency responders, such as MP, ambulance, fire emergency, EOD, and HAZMAT responders. The wearing of portable headphones, earphones, ear or other listening devices while jogging/running, bicycling, or skating/skateboarding on or adjacent to roadways or roadway intersections on DOD installations is prohibited. Headphones in civilian attire are authorized on approved secure running paths but must be removed prior to entering any area adjacent to roadways roadway intersections on DOD installations.

4. Soldiers will not wear headphones while wearing the IPFU while outdoors.

Privately Owned Vehicles

1. Vehicles will not display any stickers, decals, ornaments, etc. which are offensive or sexually explicit. To avoid distracting other drivers and reduce the likelihood of accidents, the display of offensive bumper stickers, windows signs or other markings, items or accessories on or in a motor vehicle which are visible to other drivers is prohibited. The privilege to operate a vehicle on this installation is reserved for persons of maturity, responsibility, sobriety, and to those who show good judgment.

2. At no time will POVs enter the motor pool without approval from the first O-5 in the Chain of Command. In addition POVs are not authorized in training areas without the necessary Range Pass from Range Operations.
Motorcycle Safety
(http://www.hood.army.mil/leaders/policies/Corps/new/5_Motorcycle_Safety.pdf)

Motorcycle accidents continue to be a leading cause of Service Members fatalities and serious injuries. Every Leader will read and ensure their Service Members, who ride, comply with Command Policy Letter Safety-05; Leaders will be aware of changes and ensure the proper message reaches the lowest level.

Personally Owned Weapons
(http://www.hood.army.mil/leaders/policies/Corps/new/1_RegofPrivatelyOwnedFirearms.pdf)

No Soldier may possess or bring a personally owned weapon on Fort Hood unless it properly registered with the Provost Marshall’s Office. At no time will personally owned weapons be at training sites or in barracks rooms. All requirements will be strictly enforced and complied with concerning storage, possession, and transportation of personally owned weapons such as: pistols, revolvers, shotguns, bow and arrow, and crossbows. All weapons will be declared at the Access Control Point upon arriving on Fort Hood.

Military Vehicles

1. Service members will not operate military vehicles unless properly licensed. Military vehicles sustainment and refresher training is the key to accident prevention. The TC must be in the rank of CPL or above and licensed IAW AR 600-55 CHP 6, FH REG 750-2 3-7a.

2. Seat belts will be worn at all times in military vehicles. Equipment worn will be adjusted in order to use the installed seatbelt system. The ACH will be worn at all times while operating any military vehicle outside the cattle guard footprint. Commanders may authorize Soldiers to wear the Patrol Cap while operating military wheeled vehicles in Garrison.

3. Tactical vehicles when not in use after duty hours will be secured in unit motor pools at all times. Leaving a tactical vehicle out overnight for training or field circulation the next morning does not meet the criteria for “in-use’. Unit commanders no lower than BDE level may designate one tactical vehicle (soft shell-M1097) for duty and emergency purposes for the BDE SDO/SDNCO. Sections a and b listed above apply.

Duty Uniform
